

The Power of Pattern: Free Workshop

At the Mathers Museum of World Cultures (416 N. Indiana)

May 18 / 1:30 – 3 p.m.

Simple Block Carving

Free and open to the public — but registration is limited to the first 15 people; ages 12 and older only. Carving materials provided. Register by emailing museumed@indiana.edu or calling (812) 855-0197.

What we'll do:

Learn some basic techniques for designing and carving simple block/stamps. Bring a design of your own (no larger than 4" x 6"), or wait to create a design at the workshop.

What you'll come away with:

A stamp of your own, with ideas for making more and how you might develop symbol designs and combine them into patterns.

Register at museumed@indiana.edu ~ 812-855-0197

The Power of Pattern is supported in part by the Bloomington Arts Commission and the Indiana Arts Commission. This workshop is part of the 2013 Creative Aging Festival, in collaboration with the City of Bloomington's Commission on Aging.
