Re: BL/PCD-12-91 (Kenton Robinson, Winslow Plaza)

An amendment to the outline plan for Winslow Plaza was approved by the Plan Commission at its February 18, 1991 meeting. The amendment allows a 5600 sq. ft. home improvement/hardware store in the main structure of the center. The use was previously approved but was exchanged in 1990 for approval of the White House Flowers outlot construction.

The amendment was approved with the following conditions:

1. No outside storage;
2. Petitioner to work with staff to integrate the existing site/landscaping plan with the approved plan;
3. Petitioner to work with the staff who will work with the Design Committee to develop some additional recommendations with regard to the site and building issues, integrating some additional landscaping together with recommended color schemes which the Committee might feel could enhance the development and with any other architectural recommendations recommended in their letter which is attached.

RE: Winslow Plaza

Dear Tim:

Per your request, the Design Committee of the Commission for Bloomington Downtown has reviewed the Winslow Plaza project for general design and landscaping issues. Our review is based primarily on compatibility, specifically focusing on landscaping, color, and signage.

In light of our review we offer the following comments:

SITE ISSUES

1. Current landscaping application is positive; however, it could be improved with the addition of more mature trees, with emphasis on the central drive.
2. Introduce landscaping/planters near storefront, possibly integrating existing building materials (i.e. split face block as planter bases).

BUILDING ISSUES

1. Look at color schemes that would be more compatible with the surrounding context and provide a cohesive scheme within the project itself.
2. The individual storefront signage could be enhanced further with the addition of defined signage areas that would emphasize the individual store identity (i.e. individual plaques upon which existing signage could be mounted).
3. The split faced block could be used at the storefronts to integrate them with the line as building mass (perhaps appropriate for any building additions).

The issues addressed have promise of improving the invitational quality of the project, therefore attracting more customers and consequently making this a more economically viable enterprise.

If we may be of any further service, please contact us.
