SYNOPSIS

This ordinance amends Chapter 8.20 of the Bloomington Municipal Code entitled "The List of Designated Historic Districts" in order to designate the Home Laundry Building at 300 East 3rd Street as a historic district. The Bloomington Historic Preservation Commission sought this designation, after learning of an application to demolish the building and after a public hearing on February 10th, 2005. The Bloomington Historic Preservation Commission recommended it to the Common Council by a vote of 6-1-0, and voted to place interim protection on the building until such time that the Council makes its decision on the historic district. The Home Laundry Building is locally significant for its role in women's history and is reflective of national trends in Progressive Era history. The building combines vernacular industrial and Moderne styles, and is notable for the rare surviving wooden truss structure on its industrial section. Along with this designation it also recommended that the property be rated as "outstanding" because the Home Laundry Building is listed individually on the National Register of Historic Places. Upon adoption of this ordinance, the property will be regulated by the requirements that apply to all historic and architecturally worthy districts so designated by the Common Council. These regulations preserve and protect the property from demolition and include the review of exterior modification.
