COMMON COUNCIL
SPECIAL SESSION
February 9, 2011

Roll Call: Mayer, Piedmont-Smith, Rollo, Ruff, Sandberg, Satterfield, Sturbaum, Volan, Wisler

ROLL CALL

Council President Sandberg gave the Agenda Summation

AGENDA SUMMATION

Mike Satterfield said it was another election year, and noted that he would not be participating in that election. He noted that the topic of education was getting more involvement from the community, business, and even government. He added that as a society, we had taken too long to get serious about educational issues, and added that decisions that the MCCSC had to make were staggering and outlined some concepts. He used a parable to illustrate the message to people who want to participate in civic leadership and governmental service to consider that if a grass fire starts, you could be there to help put it out. He said it was a rewarding experience, would recommend it, and asked that the community continue in its growth on all levels.

REPORTS:
COUNCILMEMBERS

Tim Mayer thanked the city Street, Utilities and Sanitation departments for their work in the recent ice storm. He said they performed above and beyond the call of duty in keeping the city functional, even if it meant being away from their families. He thanked the Police and Fire departments, also, noting that it was dangerous to be out when the roads were slippery.

Steve Volan noted that everyone should be civically engaged. He said that we all must be guardians of public speech, and said it was a complex idea that not everyone understood all the time. He noted the passing of David Grubb, who often used the podium to say something of use to the community. Volan said he didn't often agree with him, calling his tone that of a malcontent, but that he was glad that Grubb availed himself of the opportunity to speak. He said that he had this right, so did all watching the meeting and that all had an obligation to listen to each other.

David Hummons, Chair of the Commission on the Status of Black Males gave an overview of the mission of the Commission, their work in the past year, and their plans for work in the next year. He said that the commission was focusing the next year on education and employment, and noted areas where they could do small projects, but ones where they think they can make an impact. He described working with social service agencies in making materials more Afro-centric. He highlighted a conversation project with youth at a local black barber shop that included adult men, and noted the conversation was lively and the experience outstanding. He also reviewed plans for a program focusing on education and mentoring of 10-12 males over the period of a year. Hummons concluded by noting Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s inspiring statement of 'everyone can be great because everyone can serve.'

COUNCIL COMMITTEES

George Brooks said the twentieth century was characterized by some 19 recessions, minor to major. He said our current recession was decades in the making, and that the key ingredient was 'free' – free to work, free to choose where to work, free market. He said that while customers are courted, the shareholders of large corporations were courted; this was not done for hourly wage workers, even those who were experienced.

PUBLIC INPUT

He said that if they were disgruntled, they were quoted the 'free' choice model – that they were free to choose to work somewhere else. He said we needed to value our workers more.

Buff Brown noted an upcoming talk in the council chambers on March 1 at 1 pm. He said that Mia Birk from Portland, OR, would be speaking on Creating a Bike Friendly City: Lessons from Portland. Her talk would include her experiences in achieving a Platinum Status for Portland, and she would also be signing copies of her book: Joy Ride: Pedaling Toward A Healthy Planet.

James McNamara, Executive Director of Pets Alive, said that Mayor Kruzan had proclaimed February as Spay/Neuter Bloomington Month, and told of the upcoming activities including a NeuterPALooza where male cats could be neutered for $2.

It was moved and seconded that Resolution 11-02 be introduced and read by title and synopsis. Clerk Moore read the legislation and synopsis, giving the committee recommendation of do pass 7-0-0.

It was moved and seconded that Resolution 11-02 be adopted.

Laurie Ringquist, Director of Animal Care and Control, said this resolution referred to a standard agreement process that had been used among these bodies for many years. She said that the amounts calculated for the agreement were based on the percentage of animals coming from outside the city limits and then presented to county government. She said they, then, worked with the town of Ellettsville to negotiate an amount that they would contribute. She asked for approval of this agreement.

There was no public comment on this resolution. Parliamentarian Mayer explained to the visitors in the council chambers that this resolution was discussed two weeks before and therefore most questions and issues had been addressed at that time.

Piedmont-Smith thanked the Animal Control for their diligent work, and noted that it was difficult work for animal lovers. She said that she was glad that the county and Ellettsville were contributing their part.

Resolution 11-02 received a roll call vote of Ayes: 9, Nays: 0.
