MESSAGES FROM COUNCILMEMBERS

Miller wished everyone a Happy New Year.

Kiesling urged people to participate in the EPA Citizen Input process regarding PCB disposal in our community.

She welcomed everyone aboard and thanked everyone who served on the council in the past.

Cole said she was happy that the term has finally started and she too looked forward to working with everyone.

White, who took the Oath of Office earlier in the evening, stated his hopes and goals for the coming term/years, outlined numerous projects that have come to completion this past term and also expressed looking forward to new challenges and opportunities. Cooperation and compromise have existed over the last four years and he hoped that he would be included in the decision making process this term as well and that the diverse nature of Bloomington is very apparent, especially in an election year and yet we don't look at our population as Democrat and Republican and our decisions as councilmembers do not reflect our party membership. We are elected to serve all the citizens of Bloomington.

Service thanked White for his remarks and was confident that we have a very hard working council. She urged citizens to continue their input and keep in touch with councilmembers. She said that the question of tree removal/cutting policies will be discussed at an upcoming public meeting.

Miller moved and it was seconded that the following councilmember appointments be made to the various boards, commissions and organizations that councilmembers sit on:

Tim Sutherlin urged the council to reconsider the agenda placement of the Privilege of the Floor and move it back to an earlier part of the agendas, similar to the way it used to be, so that people did not have to wait out the entire meeting before being able to address the council.

Service reminded everyone that the Council Committee of the Whole would meet on Wednesday, January 8, 1992 and we would be back on our regular schedule.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:05 P.M.
