REPORTS FROM OFFICIAL BOARDS AND COMMISSIONS

Report from Traffic Commission

Councilman Harry Day commented on the fact that this would be the last meeting for Councilmen Byers, Clyde Day, Derge and Moulden. He said he was glad to have worked with these fine gentlemen. He suggested that the Council and the Administration continue to utilize the experience and training of these gentlemen in every way possible. The others who will remain on the Council concurred.

MESSAGES FROM COUNCILMEN

Each of the four retiring councilmen agreed that his experience as a member of the council had been very rewarding. Councilman Moulden said he wished every man in the city could have the opportunity to sit on the Council for a four year period, because the experience is one that no one can appreciate unless he has had the advantage to participate in the planning and guidance of a city government.

Mayor Hooker said he listened, with a great deal of interest, to the outgoing councilmen this evening. And, in thinking back four years to the time when the majority of this group met in its first session in 1964, there have been many changes in Bloomington and inside the governmental structure under the guidance of this council. He spoke for himself and all city officials and employees in his remarks about the fine members of this council. One thing that highlighted this council was the selection of great talent. Each of the members is distinguished for his particular talent and his love of the community.

MESSAGES FROM MAYOR

He wished each of the four retiring councilmen well and said Bloomington was better for having had them on the Council. He said he felt each one had a deep concern for the city and hoped each would take the opportunity to continue to serve the community in the future.

In behalf of the Common Council of the City of Bloomington, Council President Faris wished everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

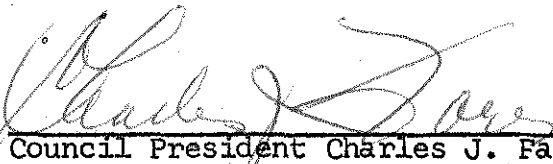

OTHER NEW BUSINESS
