Stay Active on the B-Line Trail

The B-Line Trail not only provides Bloomington residents and visitors a way to travel without using a vehicle, but is also an accessible place for walking or running for fitness.

Trail users should use caution when crossing city streets along the B-Line Trail. Vehicles are not required to stop at trail crossings.

A series of fitness stations are included along the B-Line Trail thanks to a generous contribution from IU Health Bloomington. The fitness stations are located on the B-Line Trail just south of Kroger, and add a new dimension to exercise on the B-Line.

Welcome to the B-Line Trail

The B-Line Trail is 3.1 miles long, and stretches from Adams Street on Bloomington's north side to Country Club Drive on Bloomington's south side. The paved, accessible trail is 12' wide and features easy access from any number of east-west streets along its length. The B-Line Trail connects with the Bloomington Rail Trail trailhead at Country Club Drive.

Parking is available along the street in select areas, and also in one of the City's parking garages: Garage Market at 7th and Morton Streets; Garage Art at 4th and Walnut Streets; and Garage Band at 7th and Walnut Streets.

Four plazas on the B-Line Trail are constructed of brick pavers and provide gathering spaces for theater, music, speeches, and other forms of public art.

The Farmers' Market Plaza at 6th and Morton Streets hosts a variety of local farm vendors every Saturday between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m., April Through November. At the Farmers' Market Plaza is Plaza oneA, Bloomington's tribute to the First Amendment.

Animal Island Plaza at Fourth Street is next to the WonderLab Museum of Science, Health and Technology. Shade structures, picnic tables, and a drinking fountain are located at Animal Island Plaza.

The REALTOR Plaza is located behind the Convention Center at Third Street. The Bloomington Board of REALTORS made a substantial contribution toward the development of this plaza area.

Public Art on the B-Line Trail

The downtown portion of the B-Line Trail is the "art"ery of the Bloomington Entertainment and Arts District (BEAD). The Trail features a growing inventory of murals and sculptures.

BEAD Bloomington Entertainment & Arts District
Our Hometown mural by the Bloomington Boys and Girls Clubs, is located on the north end of the Trail.

Bloomington Banquet, the B-Line Trail's signature art piece, is a limestone sculpture by Dale Enochs. The sculpture's table and chairs are made from Indiana limestone. Bloomington Banquet is located on the Farmers' Market Plaza at 6th and Morton Streets.

Dancing Spirit, a steel sculpture created in memory of Evan Farrell, a beloved member of the local independent music scene. Dancing Spirit is located on the B-Line Trail near 8th Street.

Worlds Apart, Always Connected, an Art Across the Americas cultural exchange mural, created in collaboration with Mayan youth from Guatemala. This mural can be found on the Orrego building on the Trail between Kirkwood Avenue and 4th Street.

Animal Island is a collaborative work by clients and staff of Stone Belt Arc, a local nonprofit that provides education and support to persons with disabilities. This sculpture is located along the Trail between 5th and 6th Streets.

Figured Base, a limestone music stand by Michael Van Vooren, is located at the corner of 6th and Morton Streets.

Grass Sculpture by Lara Moore is located on the Trail side of the Bloomington Convention Center building.
